

GEICO - WWE SMACKDOWN

:30

INT BAR - NIGHT

MAN, 30s sits on a barstool next to an attractive WOMAN, 20s. The man leans over and says something to her.

MAN

Hi! What's your name? Can I buy you a drink?

A previously unseen WRESTLER, 30s, gets up from a barstool near the WOMAN and walks over to the MAN who now has an ashen face in anticipation of his certain doom. The WRESTLER grabs the barstool and rips it from the floor with the MAN still seated on it. He carries the stool and the MAN outside.

Suddenly another MAN, 30s, appears next to the WOMAN (this time standing because the barstool is gone), leans over and says something to her.

MAN

Can I buy you a drink?

Just then the WRESTLER reenters the bar after disposing of the MAN and barstool and catches the new man hitting on his wife.

CUT TO: Off road vehicle racing along the highway. We find the WRESTLER driving and the WOMAN seated in the passenger seat. Rock music plays as both of them laugh and enjoy the ride. We tilt up and see the second MAN who hit on the woman is tied, stomach down, to the roof of the vehicle, his head facing the front. He turns his head at the camera.

MAN

I sure wish Geico offered hitting-on-a prowrestler's-wife insurance.

The car and the man on the roof drive into the night.

NARRATOR

Tell us what you wish Geico insured for a chance to win
free insurance for a year, and we just might turn your suggestion into our next commercial.